ESSAY ON INSTINCT

SOPHOMORE MEMBER OF BIOLOGY CLASS PREPARES GOOD PAPER

(By Marjorie Singleton)

Before I commence the discussion of this topic, I shall define the word according to Webster's collegiate dictionary in order that the word may be clearly understood. Instinct is defined as the natural inward impulse, unconscious, involuntary. The natural unreasoning impulses by which an animal is guided to the performance of any action without thought of improving the method. It is the stimulus or excitation without the necessary intervention of consciousness. I shall also define intelligence, for in some cases they are jointly discussed. Intelligence is the act of knowing, the capacity to understand, the intellect.

Intelligence and instinct are not completely separated. There is no intelligence without a trace of instinct and no instinct without presence of intelligence. From the fact that instinct is always more or less intelligent, it has been concluded that instinct and intelligence are things of the same kind. That there is only a difference of complexity or perfection between them and above all, that one of the two is expressible in terms of the other. In reality, they accompany each other only because they are different. What is instinctive in instinct being opposite to what is intelligent in intelligence. They are tendencies, not things. It is difficult to determine where the activity of instinct begins and where nature ends. The essential difference between them is that instinct perfected is a faculty of using and even of constructing organized instruments. Intelligence perfected is the faculty of making and using unorganized instruments. Another difference would be that instinct finds the necessary tool and realizes the application or purpose. But when intelligence must be resorted to, an effort is necessary to make anything effectively produced. Natural selection may and has eliminated all of the more complicated forms of instinct that are not fit to survive.

In the cells it is difficult to clearly distinguish between the end of organization and the commencing of instinct. As an example the living body, where the thousands of cells are found working to one common end, the work divided and each providing care, food for itself and reproducing. This will quite readily suggest many instincts. But are not these only the natural functions of the cells?

Consciousness must also be taken into consideration. It is defined as follows: Knowledge of that which passes in one's own mind. How far is instinct conscious? In some cases instinct is conscious, more or less unconscious in others.

According to Mitchell, "Intelligence and instinct are opposite and complimentary for, having been originally interpenetrating, retain something of their common origin. Distinctions must be sharply drawn—they are tendencies, not things. There are two kinds of unconsciousness, that in consciousness is absent and nullified. For example—the unconsciousness of a falling stone is of the former kind, for the stone has no feeling of its fall."

Philosophers have made the distinction between the matter of our knowledge and its form. Can the form without matter be an object of knowledge? Yes, if the knowledge is not like a thing we possess so much like a habit we have contracted. An example would be that when a student knows that the teacher is going to give a fraction he draws the line necessary but does not know either the numerator or the denominator, but he knows the form without the matter. This formula makes, I think, a clear distinction. Intelligence, in so far as it is innate, is the knowledge of a form; instinct implies the knowledge of a matter. It is as if a force evolving in living forms being a limited force, had to choose between two kinds of limitation in the field of natural or innate knowledge. One applying to the extension of knowledge, the other to its intensity. The first case, the knowledge is packed and full, but limited to one specific object. Second case, not limited and contains nothing, being a form without matter. These two tendencies at first implied in each other had to separate in order to grow. They spread out and the result was that they turned out to be instinct and intelligence. There are things that intelligence alone is able to seek, but which, by itself, will never find. These things alone instinct could find, but will never seek them. For a blind person it is difficult to be-

MAKE VACATION PAY

CASH IN ON YOUR VACATION THIS SUMMER—WIN A MAXWELL CAR

How are you going to spend your vacation? If it amounts to two weeks or over why not turn it to advantage and win the $850 Maxwell auto, the $400 Schiller piano, a trip to the exposition, or one of the other valuable prizes in the Glendale Evening News' $2000 Popularity Contest? Anyone who is employed, by working in their spare time, and using their vacation to either start or close their campaign of votes, has a mighty good chance to win.

No one is really too busy to enter this contest, for it's the busy people that accomplish results in this world anyway. The person who is busy always has time or rather "makes time" to do things. For instance, if you want a favor, something that entails a little extra work, you would rather risk the chances of having it done by a busy person than by one who never does anything.

So it is with this contest. When the votes are counted it will probably be found that the winners will all be busy people—persons whom you would not think would have time to take up any extra work. That being the case, the simple fact that you are employed need not keep you out of this race. In fact, it may be the extra votes you get through your business friends or connections that will win for you the prize that you most desire.

If this contest appeals to you, at all, come to the News office and talk it over, and get a thorough understanding of the proposition.

Every day you postpone entering this contest from now on makes your start that much later, so send in your name at once and the first thing to do is to cut out the nomination blank on page four of this issue and have it filed at The News office. After you have done this, thoroughly plan your campaign. Cut out the FREE coupon which appears in each issue of The News. Make out a classified list of your friends. Find out whether they take the News. If some of them are not subscribers, secure their subscription or the promise of same, if they are already subscribers get their renewal, for subscriptions to the Glendale Evening News mean votes, and votes are what you need to win the Maxwell auto, the $400 Schiller piano, purchased of the Platt Music company of Los Angeles; the trip to the exposition, the $75 prizes to Issacs-Woodbury business college, the $50 deposit at the First National bank of Glendale, or any of the other prizes.

NOTED BIBLE SCHOLAR COMING

W. Leon Tucker, well-known Baptist preacher and Bible lecturer, has been engaged to conduct a mission at the First Baptist church of this city. Rev. Tucker will speak twice a day services at 3 and 8 p. m. A series on Romans and the much criticised book of Jonah will be presented by the noted Bible scholar.

Many years ago, beneath the cross of Mt. Rubidoux, Mr. Tucker vowed a vow to throw aside all human literature and forever read and study only the word of God and literature thereon. A snake elided from beneath one of the boulders at the foot of the great cross. The startled clergyman arose from his devotions and slew the reptile, symbol of Satan, the supreme enemy of God's holy word. Ever since the famous teacher has held to his solemn vow with the result that he has been greatly honored the world over and is now generally conceded one of the foremost champions of Divine Revelation.

Just recently Pastor Tucker resigned his charge in Los Angeles to take up the larger work of teaching in Bible colleges and national conventions. Few men are better equipped for this work. The great loss to Calvary Baptist will be the gain of thousands the country over. The Baptist Ministers' conference of Los Angeles at their closing session last week passed suitable resolutions of commendation and respect for the remarkable ministry of their co-pastor. He goes forth with the honor and confidence of all his brethren in the ministry and of a large following in all denominations. Mr. Tucker is the editor of the Serial Bible course, a magazine devoted to the wonderful Word of God, which name it is soon to have.

Glendale is exceedingly fortunate in securing the services of so gifted a teacher and preacher. In coming into our valley Rev. Tucker is fulfilling a promise of over a year ago.

Why a man will fish for hours for fish he doesn't want, wouldn't sell and couldn't give away, and finish the performance by lying about his catch, is one of life's mysteries.

TRUSTEES MEETING

CITY TRUSTEES MEET IN WEEKLY SESSION—ADOPT PRECINCT VOTING MAP

The regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale was held in the city hall Monday evening. Present, O. A. Lane, president of board, and Trustees Chas. Grist, J. S. Thompson, A. W. Tower, Geo. Williams. Also present, T. W. Watson, city manager; J. C. Sherer, city clerk; W. E. Evans, city attorney; G. B. Hoffman, city treasurer.

The minutes of the preceding meeting were read and approved, after which the reading of communications was taken up. A communication was read from the Inland Waterways, and said communication was referred to the city manager.

A communication was read from the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and others calling attention to the great floral parade which is to take place in Los Angeles about July 14. In this great parade it is desired that all cities of this section of Southern California be represented. A committee of the citizens of Glendale was present and asked that the Board of Trustees appropriate an amount of money necessary to prepare a floral float for Glendale. On motion the question was referred to a committee of the whole.

A. M. Brooks, who is a member of the committee seeking to extend Brand boulevard from Tropic to a direct course to Los Angeles, spoke of the progress being made by the committee, and asked that the Board of Trustees appropriate $50 which amount is to be used in making preliminary investigations concerning the proposed road. Money is being contributed for the same purpose from other sources.

G. B. Woodberry, who is also a member of the Brand Boulevard Extension committee, referred to the proposed change of name to Glendale boulevard, and he thinks such a change would be a great advertisement for Glendale. On motion the board referred the question of appropriating $50, to a committee of the whole.

R. M. Jackson, secretary of the Merchants' association, was present and requested that the Board of Trustees repeal all sections of the merchant's license ordinance except those referring to the licensing of electricians and plumbers. Merchants present who spoke on the subject were C. W. Ingledue, Mr. Carroll, Mr. Hendricks, Mr. Johnson, Mr. Seaman, Mr. Cornwell, and J. Herbert Smith.

The license ordinance was passed by a request from a majority of the merchants several months ago, with the understanding that if it did not work out satisfactorily it would be repealed or changed. On motion Mr. Jackson's request was referred to a committee of the whole.

J. N. McGillis extended an invitation to the Board of Trustees to be present at a reception to be given Congressman C. H. Randall at the high school auditorium. On motion the invitation was accepted and ordered placed on file.

An ordinance for the establishing of a grade on Lincoln place was taken up for a first and second reading, and on motion was laid over to the next meeting for a third and final reading.

The city manager called attention to the fact that in the eastern part of the city there is a Lincoln avenue, and in the northern part there is a Lincoln place, and he thinks it advisable to have Lincoln place changed to another name. "Woodrow" and "Dellton" were the two names suggested, either one of which would please the board if the people residing on that street would be pleased. On motion it was decided to allow the people residing on Lincoln place to have a say as to what the new name shall be.

Complying with a previous request the city manager presented a voting precinct map which represents Glendale as divided into 12 election precincts. The board adopted the precinct map.

A report was submitted that drinking fountains would cost, each, $28, not installed. On motion the public service department was ordered to install the fountains at once, one at the corner of Brand and Broadway and one on Broadway east of the city hall.

T. W. Watson, acting for the Railroad committee of the Chamber of Commerce, presented deeds to a strip of ground 20 feet in width, for alley or street purposes, situated in block 24, town of Glendale. He said this alley is necessary for the carrying out of the plan of the committee to obtain for the Pacific Electric railway company a location for a depot at the corner of Broadway and what is generally known as the Child's

CONGREGATIONALISTS

DR. WILLISFORD SAYS MEN NEED NOT TRY TO PATCH UP LIVES

The services at this church Sunday proved of unusual interest. Those who were privileged to hear Dr. Willisford say that he never preached better. The sermons were especially instructive and inspiring. At the morning service the pastor read for the text the parable of patching old clothes with new cloth and putting new wine in old bottles. The speaker told vividly how the people criticised Christ because he did things differently than they had done. People since and now do the same thing.

Christ showed the folly of trying to patch up the old, threadbare lifeless religious systems of that day. The new spirit required new modes of expression. The teaching of Christ was not simply a patch on the age-worn systems of His day, but a complete new suit. The gospel of Christ is a new suit.

Men today need not a patch, but a new suit. Men must become new, in their entire life, that is, new in their thoughts, words and acts.

Men must not seek to constrain the spirit of God, but give to the spirit opportunity to operate.

Some one has said that "Judaism endeavored to confine Christianity within its own hard limitations. People are constantly trying to force new ideas into old expressions." The all important thing is to get the spirit and allow the spirit to formulate its own expression.

Discussing the theme, "Can We Believe the Bible?" at the evening service, the pastor emphatically declared "Yes, every word of it," provided the reader understands who wrote the word, when it was written and why it was written. The Bible was not written to be a text book on science, though it contains much science. It was not written as a text book on philosophy, yet it contains some of the best philosophy that has ever been written; the Bible was not written to be an authority on historical events, yet it is a storehouse of inestimable value for the student of history.

The Bible is primarily a religious book. The book that reveals God's purposes and plans, the book that shows man the complete plan of redemption of the life that now is as well as the life that is to be.

Talking about the "Mistakes of Moses," Dr. Willisford said that he "was not aware that Moses had made any mistakes. If to choose the hardships of life instead of its pleasures; if to aid the weak against the oppressions of the mighty wrong, if to lead out of political and economic bondage your kith and kin into political and economic freedom, if to follow conscience and God, is a mistake, may God give the world another Moses who may make such mistakes."

EASTERN EDUCATOR HERE

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Buchanan are having the pleasure of entertaining at their pretty Orange street home, Prof. Walter Elmer and his charming wife of Hartford, Wis. Prof. Elmer has been a friend of Mr. Buchanan for twenty years or more and they are greatly enjoying the renewal of their friendship.

Prof. Elmer is superintendent of schools at Hartford and is making his visit to the west one of profit as well as pleasure, as he is visiting the schools of California which are noted for their excellence far and wide. He is very much impressed with the very superior schools he has visited and the Glendale schools in particular, of which he speaks in the highest terms, and he speaks with authority, as he has been engaged in school work for many years.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer are delighted with the climate in this part of the country and Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan are showing them all the places of interest in the vicinity of Glendale. They will be here for some weeks, long enough, no doubt, to become so thoroughly in love with Southern California that they will wish to reside here.

TO LIVE IN MONROVIA

Leaving Carthage, Mo., Prof. W. C. Barnes, who has many relatives in Southern California, has arrived in Monrovia where he intends to settle. For thirteen years Prof. Barnes was principal of the Carthage high school.

tract line. Upon the acceptance of these deeds by the city of Glendale, the Railroad committee of the Chamber of Commerce will be in a position to present to the railroad company the deeds and right of way.

On motion the deeds were received and a record of the same was ordered made.

INVENTS NEW FILE

SAMUEL H. FISH TO PUT ON THE MARKET UNIQUE AND USEFUL DEVICE

Where several hundred devices for the purpose of performing a very simple operation have been invented and patented it requires a little more than ordinary inventive genius and perseverance to find and make a new device that will accomplish all that the hundreds of old devices professed to do and yet not infringe on any of the older patents. That difficult task Samuel H. Fish set himself some years ago and was successful in accomplishing it.

There are many kinds of office files to be seen in all the offices of the land, from the humble nail in the wall with its pathetic bundle of receipts or bills stuck on regardless of order or convenience, to the elaborate and highly polished filing cabinet, with its many compartments. Midway between these stands the common office file with its base of wood and its upright holder of metal. Both are necessary according to the amount of business transacted: but the common file, which punches two holes in the invoice or voucher and provides the upright holder and the locking device for preventing the papers from being easily detached is at once the most common and the most useful.

Business men know the old Shannon file with its hard-working springs and will tell of the difficulty experienced in punching the holes in the invoices, then detaching them from the punching device. They will also tell you of how often the file itself got out of order and permitted important documents to become detached and lost.

To obviate such inconveniences, Samuel H. Fish, 200 South Louise Street, an inventor and manufacturer of inventions, who has recently come to Glendale, on account of his health, has worked for a number of years to solve the question of providing a file that will combine these two operations and do the work demanded without the intervention of the old springs that so easily lost their springiness or acquired so much inflexibility that it was hard work to get them to move.

Most of the old filing devices of this sort, however, had no punch attached to them, and that necessitated the use of a separate punch to make the holes in the invoices or other papers. There has always been great profit in the manufacture of office files of all kinds. When one thinks of the millions of offices all over the country, it can easily be seen where the profit comes in.

The patent rights of the old Shannon file were sold at one time for $40,000, and the purchasers have cleared enormous sums from its manufacture. An inventor, named Burton put a punch on the market and made some success of it; but the demand has always been for a file that would combine in simple working form the two operations of punching and filing. To do this by means of a device that would need no force to operate it has been the problem Mr. Fish set himself to solve, and has solved successfully.

That the new Fish device answers all the demands that can be made on it is apparent at once when it is examined. It is a well-finished piece of workmanship. The wooden base is carefully constructed and attractively finished and varnished. The filing contrivance is nicely electroplated and admirably simple in its operation. It contains both file and punch. The ingenious shearing device which cuts out the hole round and not punched is one of the striking features of the device, and the entire absence of springs is an enormous advantage.

Mr. Fish has manufactured a number of these files, but as the process of manufacture demands the making of special tools for working the metal parts the output has been necessarily slow. His health also has been a considerable obstacle in the way of the formation of a concern for the manufacture and output of the new file; but he expects that in the genial climate of Glendale he will soon be strong enough to overcome all such obstacles.

Mr. Fish has been connected with the Western Electric company and is a man of original mind and an inventor of a high quality. He is thoroughly practical and can make his devices with his own hands, being a skilled mechanic. Another of his inventions is an ingenious potato planter, which makes the hole, drops the seed and covers it up again, all in one operation.

It is probably that Mr. Fish may consent to the formation of a company for the manufacture of his file in Glendale. There would be no difficulty in getting funds for the ex-

READY FOR CARNIVAL

ARRANGEMENTS FOR BIG EVENT COMPLETE—OTHER TROPIC ITEMS

Frank Davis, secretary of the street carnival, reports that everything from the street decorations to the brass band is in readiness for Thursday's big event, the greatest in the history of Tropic.

The principal business streets are bedecked in holiday attire and the business houses are displaying flags and bunting and every family and each member of every family is on the qui vive with anticipation for the great street carnival. Glendale citizens are lending their assistance and will attend in large numbers to aid in the jolly good time.

One hundred policemen, from Los Angeles, members of Silver Star lodge, K. of P., will be present with their own brass band. They will arrive about 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Wednesday evening will occur the grand illumination when, thousands will throng the streets, to witness this spectacular event. One of the most interesting concessions will be the trained monkeys. Another will be the twenty trained dogs. One of the pleasing features will be the acrobats who will give a high-class performance.

But one of the barnstormers—for what would a street carnival be without such—will be the farm-yard circus. Every small boy in town who is not buying fire works of Gene Imler, is saving his money to attend this farm-yard circus.

Mrs. B. F. Cook and her committee have completed their arrangements for the cafeteria and chicken dinner they intend giving Thursday evening. Mrs. Cook announces that they will also serve coffee and sandwiches for those who may desire but a light lunch.

Mr. Edward Ayers of Palmer avenue is contemplating a most delightful vacation trip, which he will enjoy with Capt. Lilly of Los Angeles, as traveling companion. About the 8th of August Mr. Ayers and Capt. Lilly will sail from San Pedro for San Francisco, where they will spend several days sight-seeing in the northern city, and attending the Panama-Pacific exposition. Leaving San Francisco, they will go to Chicago, where after a brief visit Capt. Lilly will go to Iowa where he will visit relatives, while Mr. Ayers will journey to Danville, Ind., and spend about two months visiting relatives and friends, whom he has not seen for thirty-seven years. Mr. Ayers' legion of friends throughout this valley will wish him a most delightful visit and a safe return.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church, will hold the regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Merritt W. Ludden, No. 243 El Bonito avenue, Thursday afternoon.

Dr. and Mrs. E. Leslie Eames have taken possession of a pretty bungalow on Palmer avenue. Dr. and Mrs. Eames have been occupying Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Tholen's residence on Brand boulevard the past year.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart M. Street's handsome new home, Central and Park avenue, is rapidly nearing completion and will soon be ready for occupancy by Mr. and Mrs. Street.

Herbert Berteaux of Hollywood, formerly of Tropic, spent Sunday visiting friends and renewing old acquaintances.

Dr. and Mrs. Emil F. Tholen, who have been spending the past year in Boston, Mass., will return to Tropic the latter part of the week and once more occupy their home on Brand boulevard.

Charming and complete in every detail was the luncheon with which Mrs. Mary Chadwick entertained at her home on South Glendale avenue Sunday, complimentary to her grandson, Berna Martin. A bowl of crimson roses centered the table, at which were seated, with Mr. and Mrs. Chadwick, Miss Florence Chadwick, Mr. Berna Martin, Mr. Collie E. Kinney and Mr. Eugene H. Imler.

THE STORY HOUR

Indian life and animal stories are the subjects for the story hour which will be held at the public library on Wednesday at 9 a. m., in charge of Mrs. Danford, assisted by Miss Scott. All children from 5 to 10 years of age will be welcomed.

WORK—THE LAW OF LIFE

Thomas Carlyle, the Apostle of Work, once said, "Not what I have, but what I do, is my kingdom." That is a great truth. Work is the law of life. "In all labor there is profit," says Solomon. All the science of political economy is a mere commentary on that text. Every young person setting out on the journey of life should fix this principle firmly in mind and let it animate every moment of existence.

"In the sweat of thy brow shalt thou earn thy bread." Sternly rang out the curse from Eden's gates as the erring parents of the human race went out side by side to face reality. Time went on and the old curse became a new blessing. Labor became the sweetener of existence; idleness its curse. Without work life is worthless; it becomes a mere state of moral coma. Not merely physical work, but also the higher work of action and endurance, of trial, patience and enterprise.

There is a vast difference between the attitude of different people towards work. One will perform the allotted task and stand idly around awaiting orders; another will finish his stipulated task and immediately find by personal initiative something else to be done. The first is a mere beast of burden; the other the intelligent being who is certain to rise. "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do," says Ecclesiastes, "do it with thy might." Work is indeed the life of humanity; without it the whole human race would be stricken with death.

True workers do not measure their duty by orders; they are continually finding something to do. Left to themselves the three recipients of the talents in Christ's parable exhibited the same characteristics as we find in modern labor. The first two took the money and set about diligently to multiply it intelligently; the third was content to render only as much as he had received. Therein lies all the difference between the real worker and the mere bond slave. The one gives the best that is in him; the other performs a hated task ungraciously and with many a groan and grudge. The first goes upward steadily and himself becomes a master and useful employer of labor; the other remains a slave all the days of his life.

In life the greatest secret of success is constant, intelligent and cheerful giving out of the best that is in one. The apostle Paul, like every Jew, learned a trade, and thanked God that he "labored working with his own hands." It is therefore natural in him to say, "He that will not work; neither shall he eat."

If you expect to do something more than merely exist, you must live a life that is full of utility and think of the end of your work as something more than what supplies the gratification of the sense. The men who help the world onward are those who work either from necessity or choice. Industry in your calling, whatever it may be, will inevitably enable you to achieve honor, if not distinction.

Work is not necessarily physical labor. The non-intelligent physical laborer is in the same category as the horse. The real worker is he who works with his brain and whose whole physical system is under the influence of his higher faculties. "Remember, oh man," says Carlyle, "that it is not thy work, but the spirit in which thou doest thy work that alone has strength and endurance."

It is not luck, but labor that makes men. "Luck," says a modern writer, "is ever waiting for something to turn up; labor, with keen eye and strong will, always turns up something." Labor is character and character is the greatest asset a young person can have. It leads upward and finally brings independence. Without independence one remains a miserable bondsman all through life; with independence there is no position however exalted that cannot be attained.

HUDSON BAY WATERWAY

Canada is building a railroad from the western wheat fields to the great inland salt water sea of North America. This is one of the most important projects that has been undertaken in that section of the continent and affects the northwest of the United States—Minnesota, the Dakotas, Washington and Oregon—just as much as it will benefit the wheat farmers of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

It is expected that the road from Winnipeg to St. James bay will save a thousand miles of rail haul for western wheat destined for European ports, while connecting vessels will make a great saving of time by following the North Atlantic route. It is true that the open season in Hudson bay is very brief—only three months. When it does come, however, it comes definitely; there is no mistake about it, and it comes at the time needed for the harvest and grain shipment season in Canada and the northwestern states of the United States. There is little doubt that the new route, too, will effect a great economy in freight charges and will tempt to that outlet a great deal of export trade that would otherwise pass through the Great lakes, the Welland and Erie canals and so out to the Atlantic.

In this way the new route will greatly benefit not only the American and the Canadian northwest, but will also greatly develop the country that lies around the Hudson Bay district. That is a wonderful country. To the ordinary imagination it is a hopelessly snowbound and icebound region; but the fact is that there is in it probably as much opportunity as there has been in the Canadian northwest and in Washington, both of which regions were at one time considered so hopeless and so dangerous that one was counted as good as dead should he boldly have ventured there.

The country around Hudson bay can be cultivated. There is many a harvest that will be gathered in that vast and spacious territory and many a dollar that will be garnered by enterprising Americans in the not distant future out of this territory that is now a land of magnificent distances and little else.

Besides the agricultural possibilities of the land, which with the short summer and the almost perpetual sunlight in that season makes it possible to grow crops that otherwise could not even be contemplated, there are mineral prospects that offer opportunities for the enterprising that are just as good as those of Alaska. Hitherto the chance of operating mining prospects has been infinitesimal on account of the fact that it is difficult to get food in that part of the land. Hence there has been no inducement to prospectors to risk their lives there, especially in the absence of any rich strike.

With a railroad running to the shores of Hudson bay, however, there should be an influx of people into that territory and corresponding discoveries and developments that should ultimately make of that northern region a territory as important as Alaska.

W. C. T. U. MEETING

The White Ribboners of Glendale were very pleasantly entertained in the fine new home of Miss Olive Marsh, 211 Cedar St., Friday p. m., June 18th. An instructive lesson on the science of government was given by Mrs. Opal Greenwalt and a helpful Scripture reading by Mrs. Coral H. Sloan. Mesdames Gaylord, Frank, Morton, Greenwalt, Harrell and Smart, who were delegates to the late state W. C. T. U. convention in Pasadena, gave interesting reports of things done there, among them the interesting scene of burning a $30,000 mortgage on their Temperance Temple at the corner of Broadway and Temple streets, Los Angeles, the last $1000 of which was recently paid, giving much pleasure to the trustees and members of the organization. Much amusement occurred when Mrs. Anderson, president of the Burbank union, stated that she made a vow twenty-five years ago when they gave the $30,000 mortgage that she would not buy herself another pair of kid gloves till that debt was paid. "Now," she said, "I can have a pair of gloves." Instantly, amidst laughter, a pair of gloves was voted by the convention and another pair from Kern county delegation, whom Mrs. Anderson once served as county president.

Mrs. Lucy Blanchard, the retiring president of the state, was made a life member of the World's W. C. T. U. organization by the payment of $100. She, with the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Celia Noll, and Mrs. Sophia Plympton, who also declined re-election, were presented with large bouquets of flowers to which were attached $25 in one dollar bills on each one. These were significant courtesies for the years of service they have given in the work. Mrs. Plympton having served 20 years as treasurer.

The newly elected officers are Mrs. Stella B. Irvine of Riverside, president, who is also a national superintendent of Sunday school work; Mrs. Alice Waertendyke, Los Angeles, corresponding secretary at Temperance Temple; Miss Mary Stuart, Pasadena treasurer; Mrs. Hester Griffith, was re-elected vice president, and Mrs. Hattie Young and Miss Ada Cummings, recording secretaries. Space will not permit other interesting features.

GLENDALE HEIGHTS

The twelfth birthday of Jack Lev-

last Saturday. The children of Glendale Heights and many of the grown-ups as well as several friends from Los Angeles were invited to spend the afternoon with him and others of the family, at Verdugo park. Near the stream a table was spread with good things little folks enjoy; ice cream, cakes, candies and a beauti-alight on it. Every one present wished Jack a happy birthday and many more to come.

On the 28th of June the Ebell club
of Los Angeles will give a luncheon, served by one of the city's best caterers at Verdugo park. After luncheon

TALENTED MUSICIAN

Mrs. Ann Etta Mayr, whose pupils will give a piano recital at the Masonic temple Friday evening, June 25,
has recently come to live in Casa Verdugo. The community is fortunate in securing this addition to our goodly number of excellent musicians and teachers. Mrs. Mayr's success as a pianist and teacher in Chicago and elsewhere and the responsible positions she has held, assure us that she is one of the most modern and progressive teachers. Following is what other papers say of Mrs.
Mayr's work:

Mrs. Mayr is a well known pianist and has for 10 years been one of Chicago's most successful teachers. Among many prominent teachers she has studied with Leopold Godowsky,
A. K. Virgil, Julius Klausner, Julia Cautners and Calvin B. Cady; and, while not following the work of any individual specifically, has endeavored to take the best from all, and has added to it as her own experience has suggested, so that she has a well defined and very complete course of study, which is invaluable not only to the advanced piano student, but especially so to teachers and young pupils. Mrs. Mayr, besides having an adequate technique, plays with expression and intensity and interprets with much intelligence.—Musical Times, Chicago.

Mrs. Etta McK. Mayr, of Chicago, is a pianist with many excellencies
as a soloist—soulful, sympathetic and magnetic—qualities more valuable than mere technique or musical gymnastics. Her repertory is extensive and includes both the classic and romantic in such variety as to instruct and please her audience. She will be heard in many concerts in and out of Chicago during the present season.—"Presto."

When Mrs. Mayr plays a clearer, purer, finer perception of the best music is awakened, to say naught of insights into the ideals which music subverses.—Universal Religion, Syracuse, N. Y.

Mrs. Etta McK. Mayr is one of Chicago's piano soloists, who is capable of attracting an audience through sympathetic and brilliant playing.—
The Musical Leader, Chicago.

GOOD TEMPLARS MEET

Glendale lodge, No. 46, I. O. G. T., met Friday night, June 18, at their headquarters in the I. O. O. F. hall.
Two members were taken into the order, the Rev. Bede Johnson being again identified with the order.

The Randall committee reported that a banquet will be given in the Glendale Sanitarium followed by a reception in the High School Tuesday, June 29.

The social committee reported a hard time party will be given in the lodge hall Friday night, July 24, at which everybody is invited. An unusual good time is assured.

Delegates elected to attend grand lodge that is to be held in San Francisco August 13 are Barbara Aske-land, Mrs. Harrell, J. P. Fannett. The alternates are Mrs. Annie Robbins, Mrs. Emma Reed and Mrs. P. E. Fuller.

Visitors were present from Mer-rille lodge and Pasadena.

The ladies had charge of the program which consisted of a song by Mrs. Hattie Gaylord, a reading by Mrs. Annie Robbins, The Bugle Call written and read by Mrs. Emma Reed. A hat shower was next in order for Odin Askeland. After he had tried on the hats, which he greatly admired, refreshments were served.
All departed to meet again at the hard time party July 2.

ANOTHER SECTION CLOSES

Quite an interesting exchange of views on important subjects was enjoyed at the closing meeting of the Legislative section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, which was held yesterday afternoon, at the home of Mrs.
C. E. Hutchinson, 200 Orange street.
There was a large attendance of the ladies of the section and the business of the session was brought to a close. Mrs. Tarr read a carefully prepared paper on "Responsibility in Caring for the Child." Mrs. Hutchinson gave a most interesting paper on her visit to the San Francisco fair, illustrating her remarks with very striking photographic views of the exposition. In the course of the afternoon refreshments were served.

UNIVERSITY NIGHT

There will be a grand special excursion Tuesday evening, June 29,
under the auspices of the Alpha Chi Omega fraternity to witness the Mission play, America's Oberammergau.
Tickets 50, 15, and 10. If sixty tickets are sold there will be a special car for this party, which will go straight through to the Mission Play house. Mrs. Emma Williams Peter-

REMEMBERED HIS FRIENDS

The Daily Drivers' Journal-Stockman, published at Omaha, Neb., on June 10, says: "J. L. Shugart, one of the tribe designated around the yards as general handy man, is spending his vacation with relatives in Glendale, California. As a rule when the boys get out on a vacation they find it very easy to forget their wasn't that sort by remembering some of the local boys with a box of California's best oranges.

ESSAY ON INSTINCT (Continued from Page 1)

Believe that an object can be seen at a distance, without first seeing all other objects between. But this is possible. As scientists teach this instinct is a knowledge at a distance. Though instinct is not within the domain of intelligence, it is not situated beyond the limits of the mind. (Continued Tomorrow)

GUIDE TO GRADUATES

Members of the class of 1914 who graduated a year ago from the University of Southern California have written the histories of their various adventures during the past year and these, edited by Miss Mildred Finch, have been published in book form. The volume is a handsome and interesting memento for the classmates who thus can learn the activities of their friends.

Mildred R. Finch, the editor, contributes a clever little poem as a prologue, and by way of a novelty the members of the class dedicate the publication to themselves. A history of the class activities also in rhyme is the work of Miss Lois Ely. A directory of the members of the class with their addresses is included at the end of the volume. That it does not take college graduates long to scatter to the far ends of the earth is shown by the postmarks on letters received by Miss Finch from the alumni. New Jersey, Massachusetts, Portmadoc, Wales and other places equally removed contain members of the 1914 class.

BURBANK WANTS NEW SCHOOL

Burbank is contemplating issuing school bonds in order to get money for the purchase of twelve lots on the upper end of the block immediately across Magnolia, in front of the grammar school. Should the issue be successful a modern six-room fireproof school building will be erected on the new site.

"A GENTLEMAN OF LEISURE" FAUCE OF SITUATIONS

A large audience enjoyed the farce, "A Gentleman of Leisure," at the Palace Grand last night, the photodrama from the play of the same name in which Wallace Eddinger is seen as the star under the management of Jesse L. Lasky, is a genuine farce-comedy of situations. That is to say, the fun is dependent neither on words nor on grotesque actions, but lies altogether in the actual complications of the story. The whole plot concerns the very amazing adventures of a society "blood," who makes a wager that he can commit larceny and escape arrest, and who quite naturally finds himself in a series of most embarrassing and unusual predicaments.

It was so very unfortunate that he should, by accident, try his burglarizing experiment on the house belonging to the father of the girl he loved—and so awful awkward that prospective father-in-law should happen to be "Big Phil," the police commissioner.

"A Gentleman of Leisure" makes an ideal Lasky comedy, because it is absolutely full of the right sort of material, but at the same time does not call for any of the foolish slapstick which has done so much to bring film comedies of the old order into disrepute.
